Greetings from the Career Development Center!

I trust you are having a great summer with family and friends, working and hopefully also getting a chance to do some traveling.

During these summer months, in anticipation of your arrival, we have already begun to pray for you by name, focusing on the instructions and promises found in Proverbs 3:5,6. As you anticipate your arrival at Covenant College, our prayer is that God would be preparing you mentally and physically for this new experience and that He would deepen your understanding of what it means to live out His sovereignty in your life each day before a watching world.

During your orientation week, I will have a few minutes to address your class at one of your morning group meetings in chapel. My comments will include information concerning some of the programs and services offered by the center. You will also receive information regarding an assessment inventory that you will be self-administering as a part of your orientation to the center.

We look forward to walking along side you, so that together, we may watch God as He works in and through your life to bring glory to Himself.

Praying for you,
Jerry King, Director
