Note about Advanced Placement (AP) history exams:
Students who score "4" or "5" on an AP U.S. History or European History exam will receive credit for the exam. He or she may be allowed to immediately enroll in 200- and 300-level history electives. Even if they earn AP credit for US History or European History, students will still need to take 39 credit hours in history courses, but they may be excused from taking a course in the corresponding area. The advanced placement hours awarded will be credited to the graduation requirement of 126 hours.
